

THROWN AT
HORSE SHOW.

Sidney J. Holloway, While Jumping, Gets Sprained Wrist and Scraped Nose from His Horse's Hoof.

BARELY ESCAPED DEATH.

Hackney, in Trotters' Day at the B. Garden Showed that inters: in First Class Has Fallen Off Considerably.

PROGRAMME FOR THIS EVENING.

8.30 P. M.—Judging twenty-seven saddle horses. Class 71.
9.10 P. M.—Judging sixteen harness landers. Class 57.
9.40 P. M.—Judging thirteen thoroughbred qualified hunters. Class 53.
10.10 P. M.—Judging ten pairs harness horses. Class 45.

Sidney J. Holloway, owner of Chapple, famous jumper, got a bad fall early this morning from his bay gelding Allister.
His nose was scraped by the jumper's hoof and his left wrist severely sprained in the roll upon the tanbark.

This occurred during the exercise period before the hackneys were brought out. Mr. Holloway, than whom there is no more daring rider in the Garden, had encircled the arena, when, on nearing the north gate, Allister became unmanageable.

Hurled from His Saddle.

In the contest between master and animal which followed, Mr. Holloway was hurled from his saddle, and on attempting to rise for a remount, Allister reared. By a clever dodge the young rider managed to avoid certain death as the jumper came down on all fours, by squirming in the tanbark.

Although bleeding from the nose, Halloway declared that he would ride in the afternoon and evening events.
The morning was taken up with the judging of the English hackney, which has the tremendous high action, but lacks the speed and speed of the American trotter. Two years ago the rail was lined with converts to this class of horse, who were queer horsey creatures and managed to create considerable enthusiasm in the hackney.

Hackney Exhibit Poor.

But interest in the high steppers has had a decided falling off, for only a thin line of bored-looking persons viewed the right for supremacy in hackneys between Frederick C. Stevens, of Attica, N. Y., and Eben D. Jordan, of Boston.
The popularity of the hackney in America is on the wane—only two or three entries in each class and low prize money.

Mr. Stevens was an easy victor in the principal classes of the hackney. He carried off five blue ribbons and was after more with a vengeance.
According to the experts there are many women in the Garden dressed far more richly than the Vanderbilts of the Astorians. Young Mrs. Chauncey M. Dewey is attired in gown so elaborate that it at once becomes a matter of comment above all others.
And she has the beauty to wear such a dress. On another it might be lost.
And no one is more proud of the gown than the gallant old Senator himself.
He is proud of his wife and hovers about her and her callers like a more youthful chevalier.

Philadelphia's Ahead.

Philadelphia put a crimp in New York, as far as gowns go. Mrs. A. J.
Cassatt, a beautiful woman, wore a gown which kept the visiting dressmakers busy most of the evening making notes of it. It is likely that this creation will be widely copied during the coming season.

From Washington came Mrs. Michael Herbert, wife of the new British Ambassador, with the supreme effort of a London modiste's inventive genius.
With her great collection of jewels the gown made one of the strong impressions of the opening of the show.

Cassatt in Charge of the Ring.

A. J. Cassatt, President of the Pennsylvania Railroad, took charge of the ring this afternoon. Mr. Cassatt wore a plain black suit, derby hat and a light weight overcoat. He is a director of the association and has a string of horses entered under his stock farm at Chestnut Hill, near Philadelphia.

Following the hackneys, some fine specimens of trotters in the breeding classes were shown. When the brood-mares appeared in the ring many of their progeny it developed a curious rivalry between husband and wife and the blue ribbon went to the latter, not through the courtesy of the Southern Judges, but on account of the superiority of the exhibit.

Mr. and Mrs. Horatio N. Bain, of Poughkeepsie, N. J., are the respective owners of the pair. Mrs. Bain, who dressed in a gown of blue and white with a blue sash, developed a household dispute which was the better animal.
After the showing made to-day Mrs.
Bain can smile in triumph at her better half.

Chief interest to-day centered in the four-hand competition between cities, which started at 4.30. New York was

WARDMAN BISSERT
GETS A NEW TRIAL

Court of Appeals Decides in Favor of Policeman Convicted of Bribery and Sentenced for Five Years.

(Special to The Evening World.)
ALBANY, N. Y., Nov. 18.—The Court of Appeals to-day handed down a decision granting a new trial to George Bissert, a former wardman in the New York Police Department, who was convicted of bribery before Recorder Goff and fined $1,000 and sentenced to five and one-half years in Sing Sing prison.
Bissert was convicted on the testimony of Lena Schmidt, who kept a disorderly house in Stuyvesant place.
The case would have been stronger with the testimony of Minnie Kurtz, who ran away from the house. She has been captured since and is now a prisoner.

Capt. Diamond was seriously compromised in the trial, but his faithful wardman refused to sacrifice him to Schmidt woman said:

"I had been keeping a furnished-room house and wanted to change it into a disorderly resort," the woman testified.
"I saw Bissert, and he said the Captain would stand for it if I gave up $500 and $50 a month extra. I agreed, and on the night of Sept. 29 Bissert called and I paid him the money. Rosie Greenberg and Minnie Kurtz were present when I paid Bissert."

"Why did you make this complaint?" asked Mr. Levy.

Her reply came quickly and in a loud tone.

"Because Bissert did not protect me, neither did Capt. Diamond. They took my money and gave me no protection in return."

Bissert was convicted on Aug. 1, 1901.
His counsel, Abraham Levy, said after Recorder Goff's charge:

"I would have preferred to have had the Court instruct the jury to acquit," said the little lawyer, with a smile, "but I wish to say that that was the finest charge that I have ever heard in my twenty-one years' experience at the criminal bar. It was the law."

The Appellate Division set aside the judgment of conviction on the ground that the District Attorney's office erred in presenting the case and that evidence was admitted by the Recorder which should have been excluded.

BENNING, RACE TRACK, Nov.

18.—Just for a change rain fell here today. The race-going community has no kick coming, however, after a week of the most charming weather. This is the first rain that has fallen on the new track, and this morning the officials refused to permit horses to work over it for fear that it would cut up the new soil too much. A couple of days' racing over it, however, should put it in good shape.

The card to-day was fairly good.
Fields were very heavy but the weather and track caused many withdrawals, so that the races were not top-heavy.
The weather had very little effect on the attendance, which goes to show that there are many dyed-in-the-wool enthusiasts here as in New York.
Speculation was high as the talent could not figure on the nature of the going.

HOTEL ROBBED BY A WOMAN.

During the Night She Slipped Away from Matteawan.

(Special to The Evening World.)

MATTEAWAN, N. Y., Nov. 18.—A mysterious well-dressed woman registered at the Dibble House last night.

When the proprietor arose this morning the woman had gone and so had a diamond stud, a valuable gold watch and chain, about two hundred dollars in money and some checks.

MOLINEUX READY TO FIGHT AGAIN.

Learning of His Wife's Intended Action for Divorce, He Loses No Time in Consulting Counsel Preparatory to a Contest.

BRAVED EVEN THE TOMBS.

Roland B. Molineux has consulted counsel with the purpose of resisting the divorce suit his wife intends to bring in South Dakota. In the absence of definite information concerning the grounds upon which Mrs. Molineux will base her attempt at freedom the husband has been unable to make definite plans. But if his present state of mind does not change he will contest the suit.

Whether Molineux was aware of the intentions of his wife when she left his father's home last week and started for South Dakota is not known. It is likely that she told no one of her plans and that his first intimation that he was to be made defendant in a divorce suit came from Sioux Falls yesterday. As soon as he heard the news he telephoned to George Gordon Battle, one of the counsel for the defense in the murder trial, and asked for a consultation.
Mr. Battle suggested that a meeting could be arranged at his office to-day.
Molineux said that he wanted to talk over an important matter as soon as possible. Then Mr. Battle said he had a case that would occupy his attention in the Tombs Court early this morning and would meet Molineux there.

Faced Not the Old Shadow.

In making this appointment it did not appear to have occurred either to Mr.
Battle or Molineux that there was anything incongruous in arranging to meet in the Criminal Courts Building, just across the street from the Tombs. Molineux was anxious to see the lawyer and did not care where he had to go for the meeting. Mr. Battle was representing Dr. Whitmore and Harry Wilson in the blackmailing case and feared that he would be kept in court all day.

Magistrate Deuel was just taking his seat on the bench when Molineux entered the courtroom and quietly took a seat on the side nearest the prison.
Drawing a newspaper from his pocket he began to read. He was noticed at once and there was a buzz in the courtroom. The reporters approached him and questioned him, but he refused to say even one word.

Molineux Looks Haggard.

While the prisoners were taken to the Judge and examined, Molineux watched the proceedings part of the time and at intervals read his paper.
He was attired in a suit and coat and was clean shaven, but looked more haggard than he has at any time of late.

At 9.30 o'clock Mr. Battle came in to participate in the hearing of the charges against his client.
Molineux stood up as Mr. Battle entered and held a short conference with his lawyer. Then he took a seat in the rear of the room, awaiting the disposition of the blackmailing case.

When this was finished Mr. Battle joined Molineux and together they walked to a Broadway restaurant, where they took seats in a retired cor-$105,000 for Bronx Bridges.

President Haffen, of the Bronx, ac-cured the passage of two resolutions, one appropriating $75,000 for the building of the approaches to the bridge which the New York, New Haven and Hartford Railroad Company will build over its tracks at Two Hundred and Thirty-third street; the other an appropriation of $30,000 for building approaches to the new Westchester Avenue bridge.

RISKED LIFE
TO SAVE BABE

Woman with Her Infant in Her Arms Dashes Down
a Burning Stairway, Reaching the Street in Safety.

ONE CHILD IS INJURED.

Five Story Tenement in Monroe Street the Scene of a Panic Caused by a Paint and Oil Fire in Lower Hallway.

The tenants in the five-story double tenement at No. 107 Monroe street were thrown into a panic by a fire that broke out in the lower hall of the building this afternoon in the stock of paint and oils in use by a gang of painters at work on the walls and stairway. Jacob Lesansky probably will die as the result of injuries sustained, and Ida Lesansky, mother of the boy, was badly burned about the face and hands.

Mrs. Lesansky lived on the second floor with the boy Jacob and a baby five months old. When she found there was a fire in the house she wrapped a shawl around the baby, packed it in her arms and dashed down the blazing stairway calling to the child to follow her. The baby was uninjured when the mother reached the street.

Little Jacob stopped appalled when he saw the fire rolling up the staircase.
He ran back into the house and in his fright leaped from a window down the airshaft to the cellar level. His skull was fractured and it is said at Beth Israel Hospital that it is doubtful if he can recover.

Most of the tenants other than Mrs.
Lesansky waited until truck No. 6 arrived, and were taken from the ladders and fire-escapes by the firemen. The blaze was extinguished in short order after doing damage amounting to about $500.

STORM IS COMING FROM THE SOUTH.

Local Weather Bureau Warned that a Gale Is Sweeping Up the Atlantic Coast.

WEATHER FORECAST.

Forecast for the thirty-six hours ending at 5 P. M. Wednesday for New York City and vicinity: Rain to-night and Wednesday morning; brisk northeast winds, increasing to high.

Warning was received this morning from the Washington bureau Washington that a storm was approaching from the South. The advice came in the following telegram:

"Northeast storm warnings are displayed along the Middle Atlantic and New England coasts. The storm is centered off the Carolina coast and is moving to the north-easterly direction. Brisk to high northeast winds are probable this afternoon and to-night on Middle Atlantic and New England coasts, shifting to west on Wednesday."

HANGING TO FENCE,
TRAIN KILLED HIM.

Nail Held Victim and He Was Unable to Escape Express, Which Cut Off His Head.

(Special to The Evening World.)

PORTCHESTER, N. Y., Nov. 18.—A well-dressed young man, in order to make a short cut to catch a train and save himself two minutes' walk, tried to climb over the fence separating the express tracks of the New Haven Railroad here to-day. He was half way over when one of his trouser legs caught on a nail.

The Washington express, running at the rate of a mile a minute, came along just at that time and tossed him high in the air and then cut off his head.
The accident was witnessed by a large number of commuters and several workmen faint.

First Anthracite at Cincinnati.

CINCINNATI, Nov. 18.—The first car of anthracite coal received in Cincinnati since the Pennsylvania strike began last May. The car was delivered to the Campbell's Creek Coal Company.
It is quoted at $10 a ton wholesale.
No more hard coal is expected from the mines for two or three weeks, chiefly because of the congested condition of the railroads around Pittsburgh.

ANDREW CARNEGIE, IRON MASTER, WHO IS NOW ILL FROM POISONING.GIRL HAS SLEPT SINCE OCT. 27.

Following Partial Asphyxiation by Gas, Delia Mulligan Is Still Unconscious After Twenty-two Days.

NO SIGN OF AN AWAKENING.

Following a partial asphyxiation on Oct. 27, Delia Mulligan, a servant in the family of F. C. Smith, No. 516 West One Hundred and Eighty-fifth street, has been unconscious twenty-two days and shows no indication of returning to consciousness.

She is in the J. Hood Wright Hospital now, where the doctors are not inclined to make public the details of her case.
The most puzzling feature of the case is the fact that her pulse and temperature are normal.

A few days previous to Oct. 27 the girl landed here from Ireland and went to work in the Smith family. It is believed she did not understand the mechanism of a gas jet, and that after turning it off she turned it on again.

When found she was unconscious, and Dr. Alfred Shipman, of No. 562 West One Hundred and Eighty-third street, was called. He worked over her all day, and while he succeeded in restoring respiration, he could not bring her back to consciousness. She was sent to the J.
Hood Wright Hospital, where every practice known to medicine was applied, but without success.

Gov. Odell Visits His Home.

ALBANY, N. Y., Nov. 18.—Gov. Odell left for Newburg to-day, where he will remain for several days. He will consider no public business until he returns to Albany, but will devote the interval to rest.

COLUMBIA STUDENTS APPEAR IN COURT AGAINST DEVERLY MEN

The cases of the two Devery captains, Charles Miller and James McCormick, came up for examination before Magistrate Barlow this afternoon.

The Columbia student detectives were called upon to retell their stories, which they did at length. Owing to the number of witnesses to be examined the investigation was not completed.

WORKMEN NARROWLY ESCAPE BEING CRUSHED.

Two horses were crushed to death and several workmen narrowly missed a similar fate at 5 o'clock this afternoon when a big derrick weighing several tons fell into the subway at Forty-second street and Madison avenue.

CARNEGIE ILL
FROM POISON.

Family Suffered from the Effects of Some Food Which Was Eaten on the Continent, But from Which the Wife and Daughter Are Said to Have Rallied.

London Physician Refuses to Discuss His Distinguished Patient's Condition Further than to Express the Hope that He Will Soon Be Entirely Recovered.

(Special to The Evening World.) LONDON, Nov. 18.—Andrew Carnegie is ill at the Langham Hotel from the effects of ptomaine poison. A physician is in constant attendance upon the great iron master, and, although his condition is not regarded as serious, he has been obliged to postpone his departure for the United States for at least a week. Mr. Carnegie and his wife and daughter were to have sailed to-morrow.

The Carnegies were served with food at a hotel in Caux, Switzerland, that was not what it should have been. All were stricken with illness.
Strangely enough Mrs. Carnegie and Miss Carnegie were the most seriously affected at that time. Mr. Carnegie felt but a temporary indisposition.
Prompt medical treatment appeared to have minimized the effects of the poison.

In time Mrs. Carnegie and her daughter recovered sufficiently to travel.
They came direct to London, making but a short stop in Paris. Mr. Carnegie, on his arrival in England last Sunday, said that he thought he had fully recovered. His wife and daughter had almost regained their usual good health.

MR. CARNEGIE IS PROSTRATED.

But the ptomaine poison was not entirely eliminated from the system of Mr. Carnegie, and evidently food partaken of here by him served to bring into life again the dormant germs. Yesterday afternoon he was obliged to admit that he was too ill to carry out his plan of sailing for the United States and physicians were called.

They found Mr. Carnegie suffering intense pain and having all the symptoms of ptomaine poisoning. But it was not apparent that the attack was the result of anything taken into the stomach recently, and it was concluded that it was a recurrence of the illness experienced in Switzerland.
MEDICINES FAIL TO RELIEVE PAIN.

Medicines administered internally failed to relieve the pain, and late last night the physician in attendance used a poultice that had better effect.
It was reported to-day that Mr. Carnegie is much better and will be able to resume his travels in a few days. But the physicians are strangely silent as to details, and it is feared that the condition of their patient is not as satisfactory as they would have it appear.

Should Mr. Carnegie recover sufficiently he will sail for New York a week from to-morrow. On account of the uncertainty regarding the length of his illness no definite plans have been laid.

FOXHALL KEENE
FINED BY JUSTICE.

Assessed $20 by an Oyster Bay Magistrate for Speeding His Auto on Nearby Roads.

Foxhall Keene, son of J. R. Keene, the Wall street operator, went to Oyster Bay this morning to appear before Justice Franklin to answer a charge of having violated the Cocks law relating to the speed at which automobiles may be run.

Mr. Keene was accompanied by his wife, who was with him in the auto when he was stopped on the Jericho turnpike last week by Deputy Sheriff Garvin, who accused him of exceeding the speed limit set by law. Mr. Keene and his wife were on their way to the Meadowbrook Hunt at the time.

Mr. Keene took the stand and testified that it was impossible for his machine to make the speed at which it was alleged to have been running. He said the deputies had made a mistake in marking the time at which the auto travelled. Mrs. Keene followed her husband on the stand.

She said she did not think that the auto was going at a high rate of speed when it was stopped by the deputy.

After hearing all the testimony Justice Franklin announced that he would impose a fine of $20 on the defendant.
It was promptly paid by Mr. Keene, who immediately left the court-room with his wife. They entered their auto and drove off in the direction of Meadow Brook.

TO REGULATE 'PHONE RATES

Aldermen Will Try to Make Price 10 Cents to All Parts of City.

The Board of Aldermen has taken up the matter of regulating telephone charges. Aldermen Sullivan, Peck, Matthews, McCull and Walkley are members of a committee that will hold a public hearing Monday night, to be held in the City Hall at 7 o'clock.
The committee will seek to create a uniform rate of 10 cents for telephone messages to any part of the greater city.

FELL IN LOVE WITH HIS PUPIL.

Dancing Master Sued for $25,- 000 by Young Woman He Taught to Dance.

Joseph Bender, of No. 235 Broome street, who carries on a dancing academy at No. 245 Grand street, was arrested to-day and lodged in Ludlow Street Jail in default of $1,000 bail, in connection with an action for $25,000 brought against him by Miss Annie Dretson for breach of promise of marriage.

Miss Dretson says she entered Bender's academy as a pupil and alleges that he fell in love with her. He became a frequent visitor at her parents' home and paid her marked attentions. Their engagement was announced and he introduced her to all his friends as his future wife. She advanced him $300 to use in his business.

Last November he told her he had become engaged to another young lady and that he would leave the State of New York if she made any trouble for him.

SANDOW IS SAFE.

Report that He Was Lost in Wreck of Ellingamite Is Untrue.

LONDON, Nov. 18.—The report that Eugen Sandow, the strong man, was drowned in the wreck of the steamship Ellingamite, between Australia and New Zealand, on Nov. 8, proves to be unfounded. A despatch from Melbourne, Australia, to this city late to-day states that Sandow is safe in that city.

The rumor that Sandow had been drowned grew out of the fact that in the last mail from Australia his wife wrote to a friend in London that they were to sail from Melbourne for New England on the Ellingamite. As nothing had been heard from them since the wreck it was presumed that they were among the lost.
